Beach in the south of the island with very fine pebbles.

It is protected from the north winds.

If you don't have your own boat, you can reach the beach by taking the boat to 'Nero' beach, the second stop. Then you will follow the path that starts to the right of the palm trees of the beach.

When you go up the hill it continues in a southerly direction (left). You will descend to a level called 'Aloni' due to its round shape with no irregularities. You might even make out an ancient theater. But you will easily spot the beach.
